

114TH CONGRESS
2D SESSION

S. 3377

To increase the participation of women in foreign security forces, specifically the military and police, with United States foreign assistance.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

SEPTEMBER 21, 2016

Mrs. BOXER (for herself and Mrs. SHAHEEN) introduced the following bill; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations

A BILL

To increase the participation of women in foreign security forces, specifically the military and police, with United States foreign assistance.

1 *Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,*

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Enhancing Military 5 and Police Operations through Women’s Engagement and 6 Recruitment Act of 2016”.

7 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

8 Congress makes the following findings:

9 (1) The United States National Action Plan On 10 Women, Peace and Security expresses the unquali-

1 fied commitment of the United States to integrating 2 women's perspectives fully into our diplomatic, de-3 fense, and development efforts not simply as bene-
4 ficiaries, but as agents of peace, security, reconcili-
5 ation, development, growth, and stability. The plan 6 also specifies the following priorities:

7 (A) Providing assistance to support wom-8 en's participation, integration, and leadership in 9 the security sector.

10 (B) Working with partner nations to in-11 crease women's participation in United States-
12 funded training programs for foreign police, ju-13 dicial, and military personnel, including profes-
14 sional military education, as well as exchange 15 programs, conferences, and seminars.

16 (C) Utilizing the participation of female 17 members of the United States Armed Forces to 18 encourage and model gender integration in the 19 armed forces of partner nations.

20 (2) The Department of State's 2015 Quadren-
21 nial Diplomacy and Development Review states 22 that—

23 (A) the United States is promoting initia-
24 tives based on the unique roles that women and

1 girls play in preventing and responding to con-2 flict; and

3 (B) gender equality is a core element in 4 policy development, strategy and budget plan-
5 ning, policy and program implementation, man-
6 agement and training, and monitoring and eval-
7 uation of results.

8 (3) United States security sector assistance is a 9 key engagement tool with our foreign partners. Se-
10 curity sector assistance helps further United States 11 interests by seeking to professionalize and develop 12 the police and militaries of our foreign partners, 13 shaping the security sector policies of foreign gov-
14 ernments, and building sustainable and legitimate 15 institutions to provide security and justice and re-
16 spond to the needs of populations. Security sector
17 assistance can also support broad United States pol-18 icy goals, including respect for human rights, civilian 19 control of the military, and the rule of law.

20 (4) To support these efforts, the United States
21 Department of State provides funding for a number 22 of training programs for military forces, police and 23 other security forces, and international peacekeeping 24 operations.

1 (5) Women are underrepresented in security
2 forces worldwide. For instance, in South Asia—

3 (A) women make up less than 1 percent of 4 Pakistan's total police force;

5 (B) women make up less than 5 percent of 6 Bangladesh's total police force; and 7 (C) women make up less than 7 percent of 8 India's total police force.

9 (6) As demonstrated by United States Female
10 Engagement Teams deployed to Afghanistan, female 11 soldiers can enhance the operational effectiveness of 12 security operations and gather information and pro-
13 vide access to local populations that all-male units 14 cannot engage or search.

15 (7) Female military and police can provide crit-16 ical contributions to security. For Afghanistan's 17 2014 presidential elections, Afghanistan's Ministry 18 of Interior recruited and trained 13,000 females to 19 provide security and conduct searches of women at 20 checkpoints and polling stations. Female police fa-21 cilitated the participation of women in elections.

22 (8) The International Military Education and 23 Training (IMET) program, funded by the United 24 States Department of State, provides professional 25 military training for the future leaders of our for-

1 eign partners, enhances interoperability with the 2 United States Armed Forces, builds relationships
3 among international and United States military stu-
4 dents, and conveys United States customs and cul-5 tural norms.

6 (9) Of the 141 countries that received IMET
7 funding from Fiscal Year 2011 through Fiscal Year
8 2015, only approximately 7 percent of IMET pro-9 gram participants from those countries were women.

10 (10) United States international police training
11 programs that are specifically focused on women 12 have proven effective in recruiting and retaining 13 women. In Lebanon, for instance, a Department of 14 State-funded basic cadet course for women was in-15 strumental in helping Lebanon's Internal Security 16 Forces increase the number of police officers from 17 two to 610.

18 (11) United States security assistance for 19 peacekeeping builds the capabilities of our partner 20 countries, increases the number of military and po-
21 lice personnel available for deployment to support
22 peace operations, and facilitates the logistical sup-23 port and deployment of units to peace operations.

24 (12) Studies demonstrate that the inclusion of 25 higher proportions of female peacekeepers is associ-

1 ated with fewer allegations of sexual abuse and ex-2 ploitation, as is the inclusion of personnel from 3 countries with better records of gender equality.

4 (13) Female peacekeepers are uniquely capable 5 of assisting female survivors of sexual violence. Re-6 ports demonstrate that victims are more likely to re-7 port incidents of abuse to women in the police or 8 military. In Liberia, the presence of a female Indian 9 peacekeeping unit increased reporting of sexual 10 abuse and encouraged the recruitment of women to 11 the national police.

12 (14) Despite the recognition of the importance 13 of increasing the number of women in peacekeeping 14 operations, according to the United Nations, as of 15 February 2016—

16 (A) women comprised only 3 percent of 17 total military forces deployed to peacekeeping 18 missions; and

19 (B) women comprised only 9 percent of 20 total police forces deployed to peacekeeping mis-21 sions.

22 (15) The Global Peace Operations Initiative is 23 a United States security assistance program to 24 train, deploy, and build the capacity of peacekeepers
25 worldwide. Through the Global Peace Operations

1 Initiative, the United States has worked to increase 2 the participation of female peacekeepers in United 3 Nations operations. With dedicated United States
4 assistance, over the last five years, the countries
5 that received assistance under the Global Peace Op-
6 erations Initiative nearly doubled the number of de-7 ployed female military peacekeepers from 1,396 to 8 2,539. Of the countries that received assistance 9 under the Global Peace Operations Initiative that 10 deploy personnel to peacekeeping missions, as of 11 January 2016—

12 (A) women comprised approximately 4 per-13 cent of total military forces deployed to peace 14 operations; and

15 (B) women comprised approximately 7 per-16 cent of formed police units and 10 percent of 17 total police forces deployed to peace operations.

18 SEC. 3. STATEMENT OF POLICY.

19 It is the policy of the United States—

20 (1) to recognize and respond to the significant 21 shortage of women at all levels in foreign military 22 and police forces;

23 (2) to prioritize the identification, engagement, 24 and support of women leaders at all levels in foreign 25 security sectors;

(4) to promote the meaningful inclusion and deployment of women in security operations; and

7 (5) to enhance and expand United States train-8 ing opportunities for women at all levels in foreign 9 militaries and police forces.

10 SEC. 4. FOREIGN MILITARY EXCHANGES.

11 The Department of State, in coordination with the 12 Department of Defense, shall seek to increase the partici-
13 pation of women receiving training under the Inter-

18 (c) INCREASED DEPLOYMENT OF FEMALE PEACE-
19 KEEPERS.—The Department of State may work with part-

21 ing assistance to double the number of qualified women 22 deployed to peace operations not later than 5 years after 23 the date of the enactment of this Act.

1 SEC. 7. LAW ENFORCEMENT.

2 (a) PARTICIPATION REQUIREMENT.—The Department of State shall establish female participation requirements for its police training programs and work with partner countries to ensure that women account for not less than 10 percent of nominees for United States-funded police training programs.

19 (a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State, in conjunction with the Secretary of Defense, shall designate appropriate officials to brief the appropriate congressional committees, not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, on—

24 (1) the existing, enhanced, and newly established training carried out pursuant to this Act;

1 (2) diplomatic actions undertaken to promote 2 the targets set forth in this Act;

3 (3) the guidelines established for overseas
4 United States diplomatic and military personnel to

6 Act;

8 this Act; and

10 temic barriers to women's recruitment, retention, 11 and professionalization for the largest recipients of 12 United States security sector assistance.

13 (b) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES
14 DEFINED.—In this section, the term “appropriate con-

20 Committee on Armed Services, and the Committee
21 on Appropriations of the House of Representatives.
